Roasting Lamb.
The shoulder of lamb requires rather more than an hour to roast; a small saddle an hour and a half; a larger saddle two hours or longer; loin of lamb an hour and a quarter to an hour and a half; ribs of lamb (as they are thinner than the loin) from one hour to an hour and a quarter; a leg of lamb weighing five pounds an hour and a half.

Brilliant Windows.
For brilliant windows take a pad of cotton rag soaked in glycerin and rub the glass all over inside. Then take a piece of clean dry rag and lightly polish the glass until the glycerin is invisible, but not entirely rubbed away. Do this when the glass is fairly warm and dry, and you will get brilliant windows, no condensation and a great saving in the amount of cleaning.

Womanly Beauty.
This generation has seen in a remarkable fashion the results of popular expectation and general habits on physical development in the case of women. The number of tall and strong girls now is most striking, and equally so are the beauty and vitality of many women who are past the fiftieth birthday.—Illustrated London News.

To Succeed on the Stage.
Unless you have the beauty of Venus, the hide of a rhinoceros, the constitution of a horse, the diplomacy of a Machiavelli and unbounded influence and impudence, put out of your mind the thought of adopting the already miserably overcrowded stage as a career. An Actress in "The World and His Wife."

The Chic of a Bow.
The chic of a bow may be due to just a little twist in the ribbon as each loop is formed, says a milliner. It is so simple that the uninitiated it passes without notice, yet without this little quirk the bow is stiff, dowdy, ordinary. It is the little, invisible touches in nine cases out of ten that give style.

Worn Blankets.
The thin places of worn blankets should be darned with wool of the same color. Turning the two selvages to the middle lengthens their existence undoubtedly. Too frequent washing is apt to make them shrink and become hard, so now and then they should be shaken in the open air.

Most women are prone to undertake the beautifying art in too much of a hurry. A spasmodic attack is followed by a spell of carelessness. Patience and perseverance bring fine results to the seeker after beauty.

Have a short piece of hose fitted to the faucet in the kitchen. It should be of sufficient length to reach to the range and will save you backaches and useless steps.

Bananas cut up with nuts and dates and served with whipped cream make one of the wholesome dishes. The children always like it.

Absorbent bath towels with a smooth surface on one side and a rough one on the other are made.
